This is Today!

It is to laugh! The printer goes into the cigar store, lays down 15 cents for a 5-cent cigar and smiles; he goes to the boot shop and gives up fifteen simoleons for a pair of five-buck kicks and rejoices with the storeman over his prosperity; to the druggist he hands a dollar for a bottle of physic that he formerly bought for 35 cents and makes good by adding 50 cents to the outlay as payment for 25 cents' worth of chocolates to make the physic a necessity; he pays the grocer and the butcher two prices and registers approbation; he gives the banker 8 per cent for 4 per cent money and recognizes that in unnatural times one must expect unnatural charges; he pays the garageman, the picture show man, the drayman and the railroad their increased rates without a kick, but when any of these intelligent and progressive business men desire a handful of letterheads they are shocked at the continual upward trend in the prices of printing. We might offer these gentlemen a number of valid reasons for higher printing costs in addition to the ones that they already know to be legitimate, but do not think it necessary to go into our business details to them any more than we expect them to do this for us. However, we will say to them that the day when the country printer owed everyone in the community and was dependent upon their charity for his support—the day when he walked in fear of his banker and approached his grocer in confusion—is with all offices of any consequence a thing of the past. To be a successful newspaper man requires nearly as much talent as it takes to successfully manage a soda fountain and should be worthy of as much remuneration as is expected by the proprietor of a pool palace. In addition to this a successful newspaper man must have sufficient literary ability to correct the copy of men who wish commercial printing so as to make it intelligent in its construction. These are but few of the reasons why it costs more to have printing done in these days of advanced costs of everything than it did when shoes were selling for $3.50, wheat for 60 cents and "Horseshoe" at 45 cents per pound. The fact that we dare write and publish these truths is proof positive that in some offices at least fear and trembling have been superseded by that knowledge of actual value which makes for commercial and intellectual independence.

It is to laugh!—Clay Center (Neb.) Clay County Sun.

Felt Himself a Stranger.

John was anxious to see his new brother, who had just arrived. The nurse finally took him to the bedside and the new brother was crying. John looked bewildered and finally said, "He is crying for his own folks."

THE STORE THAT STANDS FOR QUALITY AND RELIABILITY

Nature's Color Scheme.
Imagine the grass of the field and the leaves of the forest created blue, or magenta, or scarlet, instead of green! Some speculative scientists think the foliage of the planet Mars is red, and that the people there are seeing red continually. It would not be difficult to believe that keeping the pence on this good green earth is not as hard as it would be had our planet been painted red in the beginning.—
